Course Description and Goal
In this course, students will read English translations of seminal works of premodern Chinese fiction and drama. These writings illustrate people’s everyday life in imperial times; they are also concerned with warfare, rebellion, and the supernatural realm. The class will focus on the following themes: love and desire, commercial life, dynastic crisis, ghosts and animals, as well as gods and demons. While focusing on close readings of the primary sources, we will connect the subject matter to larger topics, such as gender and sex, economy, politics, and religion. All readings are in English. No knowledge of Chinese language or literature is required. Students with the ability to read Chinese texts are encouraged to read the original. This course is certified for AHp (Arts and Literatures) and aims to train students how to analyze literary texts. It will be conducted via Zoom in the synchronous mode. Students with any technological problems should talk to your instructor.

Requirements and Grades:
1. Attendance – 10%
2. Presentation – 20%
3. Canvas postings – 20%
4. Midterm paper (6 pages) – 20%
5. Final paper (6 pages) – 30%

Presentation: During each online meeting, one student should give a presentation. The presenter should summarize and compare the readings, raise questions based on his or her understanding of the texts, as well as answer questions from the instructor and other students. The presentation should last about 10-15 minutes.

Canvas postings: Each student should write one or two paragraphs that reflect your own understanding of the readings. Please post your postings before 6 PM on the day before class.

Midterm Paper: Each student should write a well-crafted and clearly argued midterm essay based on the text(s) you choose. It should present a clear argument and demonstrate your skill of close reading. You may engage relevant theoretical works if you think they are helpful to your analysis. The essay will be due at the beginning of class on the due date. It should include footnotes and a bibliography according to the MLA Style Manual or Chicago Manual of Style.
Final paper: Students should write a term paper with a clear argument. Please combine primary and secondary sources and dissect texts thoroughly. You should include footnotes and a bibliography according to the MLA Style Manual or Chicago Manual of Style. Please submit an electronic copy via e-mail.

Statement on Academic Integrity
As a member of Rutgers community, you are expected to demonstrate integrity in your academic endeavors. Your paper should be your own original work. If you want to use words or ideas from other sources, make sure you identified the original sources and provide footnotes or parentheses. If you cite from a published source or from a web site and the quotation is short, please place it in quotation marks; if you quote a longer passage from a publication or web site, please indent it and use single spacing. Any work that has been submitted for credit in another course is generally not allowed to be submitted in this course unless you have the permission from your instructor.
