Course Description: This course is a continuation of Chinese 301 and the sixth semester in the Modern Mandarin Chinese sequence. The course focuses on all four language skills to further train students to communicate in Chinese with greater accuracy and structural complexity. Through multimedia course materials, classroom activities, group projects and weekly assignments, students will learn more advanced sentence patterns, build up a more sophisticated vocabulary, and advance in their reading and writing skills. By the end of the course, students will have acquired the linguistic tools to begin to navigate unfamiliar texts on their own. The course is conducted in Chinese.

Prerequisite: This course is designed for students who have completed 01:165:301 or its equivalent, or placed into 302 through the placement test. If you are unsure whether you are eligible to take this course or this is the correct proficiency level for you, please contact the Chinese Language Placement Advisor, Dr. Yang 杨老师 (yuanchen.yang@rutgers.edu).

Statement of Learning Goals: As this course emphasizes all four language skills, after completing the course, students will achieve advanced-level competency in speaking, listening, reading and writing in Chinese. More specifically:

- Through frequent classroom discussions, students will be able to actively participate and comprehend conversations about daily life and academic life and discussions on social, cultural and political issues in China and the U.S.
- Through classroom activities and homework assignments, students will gain the practical skills to translate English into idiomatic Chinese and vice versa.
- By giving two 5-minute oral presentations, students will demonstrate that they can present their arguments in a formal setting with fluency and clarity.
- By writing two 500-word essays, students will demonstrate that they can present their ideas in the written format with relative structural variety and complexity.

Course Requirements & Evaluation

- Attendance & Participation 出席与参与 10%
This is a language class, which means class time is crucial to your learning. You are expected to come to every class on time and actively participate in the class activities. All electronic devices must be off while class is in session. Attendance will be taken at the beginning of each class. Three late arrivals to class will count as one absence. You are allowed only two unexcused absences. Your final grade will be reduced by two full points for each unexcused absence after the first two. Absences can be excused only for religious reasons (must be reported in advance), or documented emergencies (official documents must be provided). If you expect to miss a class, please use the university absence reporting website (<https://sims.rutgers.edu/ssra/>) to indicate the date and reason for your absence.
- Quizzes 小考 10%
To be able to function in a second language with a high level of competency opens the door to many opportunities, but to get there requires perseverance and discipline. Make sure your schedule allows you to commit to spending a minimum of one to two hours to prepare for each class. For each class, you are expected to review the materials we covered in class and complete the assignments. A short quiz will be given at the beginning of each class. If you are late to class, you will miss the quiz. There are absolutely no make-ups for the quizzes.
- Homework Assignments 作业 10%
Homework assignments will include exercises from the textbook, worksheets to be given out in class, and Sakai online postings. These assignments are due by the beginning of class in the following meeting (e.g. HW8.1 is assigned on Thursday 1/19, so it is due on Tuesday 1/24). Late submissions within one week of the due date will be docked by 10% for each day they are late. Assignments submitted one week after the due date will not be accepted.
- Essays 作文 10%
You will write two 500-character essays. Topics and specific instructions will be announced in class one week before their deadline. Essays are due by the beginning of class on the days indicated on the schedule. Late submissions within one week of the due date will be docked by 10% for each day they are late. Essays submitted one week after the due date will not be accepted.
- Oral Presentations 口试 10%
Oral Presentation 1: February 22 (Thursday)
Oral Presentation 2: April 26 (Thursday)
You will give two 5-minute oral presentations. For Oral Presentation 1, you will work in pairs to interview each other for a job. For Oral Presentation 2, you will work in groups of 3-4 to present on a topic related to China. You will have opportunities in class activity time to prepare for them.

- Unit Tests (大考: 单元测验) 30%
Unit Test 1 (10%): Lessons 8~ 9, February 8 (Thursday)
Unit Test 2 (10%): Lessons 8~11, March 8 (Tuesday)
Unit Test 3 (10%): Lessons 8~13, April 10 (Tuesday)
All unit tests are cumulative. Rescheduling of a unit test is only possible for officially excused absences or conflicts (official documents must be provided). You can only reschedule a unit test if you notify the instructor in advance.
- Final Exam (期末考) 20%
The final exam is cumulative, covering Lessons 8~14
May 4, 2018 (Friday), 12:00-3:00pm
